Title : More than just pantun:

Exploring Malay poetry, music & traditions

Abstract : Malay culture is rich with oral traditions, where poetry, music, and artistic expressions have long played a central role in storytelling, social customs, and identity formation. While pantun - a structured quatrain poetic form - has gained international recognition through UNESCO's Intangible Cultural Heritage, Malay literature and traditions extend far beyond it. This presentation delves into the diverse world of Malay poetry, music, and artistic traditions, revealing their historical, social, and intercultural significance. Although sharing basic similarities with neighboring countries, Malaysian Malay traditions have uniquely evolved through a rich tapestry of influences. Today, the Malay cultural identity remains vibrant and resilient in the modern world.
